JUNE NEWSLETTER

JUNE CLUB MEETING - June 27th

The June meeting will be special. Bob Hill, the author of TValuetm, a sophisticated amortization, discount and mathematical software program, will be personally demonstrating his fine program. Major accountancy firms have given TValuetm very high marks.

The June meeting will begin at 6:15 p.m. Thursday, June 27 in Science North (Cal Poly), on the third floor.

MAY CLUB MEETING

Special thanks to Rose Bowker who demonstrated PC-DBMStm ($60) and Ray Miklas who demonstrated Managing Your Money ($99). Thank you both for your excellent, comprehensive presentations.

COURSE INSTRUCTORS

Five Club members have indicated interest in instructing computer programs sponsored by Computerland. Gordon Held of Computerland is presently considering whether to lease a large space next to his offices for classes, if he can find a director to run the program on a fairly intense part-time basis. If you are interested in this start-up program, call Gordon. This can be quite an opportunity!

FUTURE PROGRAMS IN THE MILL

AVA (financial), Sideways (Utility), PolyWindows (Utility) and Charles Schwab's new Financial Independence (financial).

DISPLAYWRITE WORKSHOPS

Howard Amborn reports that 2-day workshops in DisplayWriteII will be given in Lompoc on each Friday and Saturday during June. Please call 735-3366 if you are interested in this program.

Bring your "Readme" diskettes to the next meeting for an update on our library of public software. See you on June 27th!
